

Brill E-book Select / Brill Books and Journals platform

Brill E-book select is Brill's pick and choose model, offering librarians and users a more flexible e-book acquisition option. Brill E-book select on our platform is only available when logged in as a library administrator on BrillOnline Books and Journals (<http://booksandjournals.brillonline.com/>).

When browsing e-books as an administrator, you will notice that an additional button appears for e-books which you have not yet purchased access to, called "Add to Select Order". To add an e-book to your E-book select order, you simply click on this button.

E-book page when logged in as library administrator:

The screenshot displays the Brill E-book Select interface for a library administrator. The main content area shows the book details for "A.H.M. Jones and the Later Roman Empire" by D.M. Gwynn. The "Buy this e-book" section is highlighted, showing a price of € 115,00+ Tax (if applicable) and a red-bordered "Add to E-book Order" button. The right sidebar shows the user is logged in as "Brill Test Account (Administrator)" with fields for Username and Password, and a "Sign In" button. The bottom of the page features a description of the book and navigation tabs for "Overview", "Chapters (16)", and "Related".

After clicking the button, you will notice that it disappears and it will instead state that the book has been added to the E-book select order. You can get an overview of the titles added to your Brill E-book select order, if you click on Select Order.

Gwynn, subject History, keywords, publication year 2007, DOI, ISBN, and series information. A central yellow box displays the price '€ 115,00+ Tax (if applicable)' and a 'Buy' button. Below this, a blue arrow points to a larger yellow box that also shows the price and a 'Buy' button, with the text 'Added to E-book Order' below it. On the right side, there is a 'Brill Test Account (Administrator)' section with fields for Username and Password, and a 'Sign In' button.
